

Our Life is Love: The Quaker Spiritual Journey
North Carolina Yearly Meeting - Conservative,
Seventh Month (July) 12-16, 2017, UNC-Wilmington

Are you curious about “Conservative Quakers” in North Carolina?

Come to Wilmington this summer, connect with Friends from the region, stay in the dorms, attend business sessions, have interesting conversations while sharing meals in the cafeteria, go to the beach, enjoy deep cool thirst-quenching worship and hear thoughtful Quaker speakers.

Children of all ages love the age-appropriate independence of living on campus and participating in their own program (which includes visiting the beach and other sites, Quaker-grounded religious activities, and lots of fun).

For the second year running, a group of young adult Friends is involved in the planning process for yearly meeting sessions. They are organizing some activities that will be open to all and will also be creating opportunities to intentionally support young adults to integrate more fully into the adult program.

Morning Bible Study on Fifth through First Day: led by Marcelle Martin. The title of the Bible Study will be Three Scriptures to be Fulfilled. We will look at some passages of Scripture that helped the first Quakers understand the radical process of inward and outward transformation to which God called them, a transformation that led ultimately to being "joined with" the divine Fountain of Love.

Fifth Day (Thursday) Evening: Panel Discussion, Living Our Love, will include Friends engaged in work with racial justice, immigrants, refugees, transgender issues

Sixth Day (Friday) Evening: Marcelle Martin, Our Life is Love

Seventh Day (Saturday) Evening: Talent Show (intergenerational!)

All are welcome to showcase their talents! Remember to bring whatever you need, i.e. ukulele, magic tricks, tap shoes. “A splendid time is guaranteed for all.”

Mark your calendars now and watch for registration materials in May.
